

Biography

Marie Rosy Kesner AUGUSTE has a bachelor's degree in Juridical Sciences, and she is registered in the Port-au-Prince Bar. She works as Program Manager for the National Human Rights Defense Network (RNDDH), a national institution based in Haiti and with whom she has been with since 2002, when she started her career as a Woman Human Rights Defender.

Ms. Auguste is passionate about Human Rights issues and is extremely driven in her work while also respecting these principles and values in her everyday life.

Ms. Auguste is advocating for the respect of the human rights in Haïti, where the situation is characterized by summary executions, spectacular assassinations, the systematic repression of anti-government demonstrations, the violation of economic and social rights, the systematization and trivialization of sexual violence.

As Program Manager, she coordinates the activities of RNDDH which revolve around human rights training and monitoring of state institutions, the general human rights situation, and elections.
